From the white sandy beaches of the legendary Langkawi and the scenic islands of the East Coast enclave of Sabah, to the misty, cool breezes of Janda Baik. Lofty natural wonders: green shades of rolling fields, forest, and farms of Cameron Highlands; adventurous hiking trails of Fraser's Hill; and shaded manicured gardens of Bukit Tinggi.

Langkawi – Malaysia's Tropical Muse

Where Luxury Meets the Wild

Langkawi has always been iconic—but in 2025, it's redefining what barefoot luxury truly means. Set against a backdrop of ancient rainforest and turquoise seas, this island gem is where sustainability and indulgence intersect.

The Datai Langkawi

Stay at The Datai Langkawi or Ambong Pool Villas, where nature is not just within your sight, but also is never beyond your reach. Wake to the sounds of macaques in the trees, dine on sea-to-table cuisine, and cruise into the sunset with champagne in hand.

New eco-conscious experiences abound—forest bathing, reef-safe snorkeling, and sunset yoga on quiet beaches. Whether you're seeking a romantic hideaway or a rejuvenating solo retreat, Langkawi offers serenity with soul.

Janda Baik – The Cool Escape Close to Home

Unplug Without Going Far

Just a 45-minute drive from Kuala Lumpur, Janda Baik feels like a different world. Cool breezes, rolling hills, and misty mornings set the tone for a reset, both serene and stylish.

Tiarasa Escapes

This summer, try luxury glamping at Tiarasa Escapes, where you can fall asleep to the sounds of rain on canvas and wake up to a gourmet breakfast in the wild. Explore hidden waterfalls, sip locally roasted coffee in garden cafés, and breathe in the forest air that city life forgets.

For those craving nature without the hassle of travel logistics, Janda Baik is the perfect weekend fix.

Sabah's East Coast – Dive into Discovery

Adventure Overwater, Underwater & Beyond

The coral gardens of Semporna, Sipadan, and Mabul are calling. Whether you're an experienced diver or a curious snorkeler, Sabah's east coast offers underwater encounters you'll remember for a lifetime.

Mabul

This summer is especially special—it's turtle nesting season! Visit conservation zones to witness these gentle giants laying eggs by moonlight, or join eco-tours that blend exploration with impact.

Pair your aquatic adventures with village stays or island hopping via traditional boats, and you'll discover a rhythm of life that's beautifully untouched.

Cool Down in the Highlands

The Refreshing Side of Summer

Escape the heat without leaving the country. Cameron Highlands, Fraser's Hill, and Bukit Tinggi offer lush green hideaways that feel like secret gardens in the clouds.

Jeriau Waterfall, Fraser Hill

The low temperatures and high altitudes of these attractions are an ideal and welcoming respite from the blistering summer heat. Explore the mystical Misty Forest and the picturesque purple fields of lavender of the Cameron Lavender Garden. Wander on the trails of the Pine Tree Trail and Hemmant Trail, then cool off in the refreshing waters of Jeriau Waterfall at Fraser's Hill. And grace the gardens galore of Bukit Tinggi at the Japanese Village and Botanical Gardens for a reinvigorating experience.

Brunch in the City

Savor Sumptuousness under the Summer Shade

Summer in Kuala Lumpur is an invitation to slow down. The mornings are golden, the breeze is light, and the city's vibrant café scene feels like it's made for daydreamers.

Lisette's Café & Bakery

From the leafy terraces of Lisette's Café & Bakery to the sun-dappled interiors of VCR and Breakfast Thieves, brunch is not merely a meal—it's a lifestyle of leisure. Think of berry-topped French toast, Turkish eggs with a twist, and matcha lattes made for Instagram.

This season, alfresco dining is in full swing, with rooftops and garden courtyards offering stylish sanctuaries above the urban pulse. Bring a book, bring your friends, or just bring your appetite—summer in the city has never been this delicious.

KL After Dark

Where the City Lights Sparkle Brighter

When the sun sets, Kuala Lumpur shifts into a different energy—lively, laid-back, and luminous. The rooftops are where it all begins. Sip passionfruit martinis at Vertigo, lounge under the stars at Mantra, or dance with skyline views at SkyBar.

The Row

But summer nights go beyond the skyscrapers. At street level, The Row, and Chow Kit's hidden speakeasies are alive with culture. Think of night markets, pop-up jazz sessions, natural wine bars, and artisanal bites served from vintage trucks.

It's not about the party—it's about the vibe. And KL, after dark, delivers it in spades.
